We Hear From a Weekly Editor on H. Bond Proposal

Dear Mr. Washburn:

I feel exactly as you do on the proposed state highway bond issue and would like your permission to reproduce your editorial of Nov. 20 in our newspaper.

Keep up the good work. We may be called squares, behind the times, or even such a bad title as conservative, but I believe it is just being sensible to try to avoid squandering tax money that is not needed to be spent. Yours very truly,

THE GURDON TIMES
By Thomas J. Key,
Editor

Nov. 29, 1972
Gurdon, Ark. 71743

Dear Tom:

Of course you're welcome to reprint our Nov. 20th piece attacking the proposed $416 million state highway bond issue and its companion 2-cent increase in the state gasoline tax.

The Arkansas Democrat reprinted it Nov. 25. Arkansas Gazette ignored it—but the Gazette has already hinted it will support the bond issue and tax.

I have the highest respect for J. N. Heiskell personally, the Gazette's owner, but have consistently faulted the Gazette's editorial policies during the 49 years I have lived in Arkansas—the last 43 as a newspaper editor-owner.

What I have been consistent in, specifically, is the business of pointing out the inconsistency of Gazette editorial policies. And my nearly 50 years residency has earned for me a storehouse of facts.

The Gazette beats the drums for a state-wide bond issue, locking up a 2-cent gasoline tax hike for as long as the bonds are outstanding—but the same Gazette did its level best to defeat the authorization of local bond issues for industrial ventures in the smaller counties and cities.

The Star opposes state-wide bond issues but supports local issues in which the full faith and credit of the state aren't involved. This is a forthright statement in behalf of home rule—but the Gazette is an unbeliever in home rule.

Some years ago the citizens of Phillips county (Helena) formed an improvement district and issued local bonds to build a bridge across the Mississippi River to improve local trade. Apparently the improvement wasn't sufficient to finance the debt, for the Phillips county people appealed to the state government to take over the bond issue. Both The Star and the Gazette attacked the "take-over."

But on a project in its home county of Pulaski the Gazette took a different view. Little Rock had for years tried to move the University of Arkansas from Fayetteville to the capital city but found all quarters of the state violently opposed. Finally a new strategy was hit upon. Promoters organized Little Rock College, ran up a big debt—and then appealed to the state to take over the school and its debt and make them a part of the University of Arkansas.

The Gazette was frightfully righteous about rejecting the bridge-bond plea from Phillips county, in a remote corner of the commonwealth—but when the same issue popped up in its home county it changed its position instantly, and now we have the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

If I observe the newspaper is misnamed, that it ought to call itself the "Little Rock Gazette"—what other conclusion is imaginable?

Main Street: Looking north after completion of Urban Renewal program

Above is an artist's concept of what Main Street (looking north, depot is at end of street) will look like upon completion of Hope's Urban Renewal Plan. A plaza will connect the northwest and southeast corners of Second and Main Sts. (Anderson-Frazier Insurance to Fred's Discount). One-way traffic will be in effect west on Second and north on Main to the plaza; traffic traveling east on Second and south on Main will also be one-way. The planting of trees in the downtown area is also in the master plan, as well as placement of a fountain and a kiosk (small information booth). The Urban Renewal project will go into the engineering stage in January. Mike Kelly, project director, said that completion of the downtown project would be sometime in early 1974. Parking lots will be located at the following corners: Walnut and Division, Elm and Division, Third and Elm, and Third and Walnut. Walkways for pedestrians will be constructed in the center of each block in the downtown area. This drawing is the first in a series of Urban Renewal plans that the Star will publish. Future drawing published will include a central traffic plan, parking plan, and a closeup view of the Main St. plaza.

Special envoy seeks meet with Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—South Vietnam's special envoy Nguyen Phu Duc today sought a fourth meeting with national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger on the final shape of a Vietnam peace settlement.

Vietnamese diplomatic sources said Duc would again see Kissinger at the White House before returning to Saigon, but a White House spokesman said after Thursday's discussions "nothing is set at this time."

Underlying the conflicting reports were indications that the United States is growing impatient and may not wait for its South Vietnamese ally to approve before signing a final peace agreement with the North Vietnamese.

Informed sources said Saigon is not now ready to initial the modified draft agreement worked out between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese in secret Paris talks.

Nixon, who along with Kissinger, met with Duc twice before flying off to Key Biscayne, Fla., Thursday, is reported as determined as ever to settle the Vietnam war on honorable terms as quickly as possible.

Before his meeting with Duc, Thursday, Nixon also called in the Joint Chiefs of Staff for what deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren called "a review of the entire situation in South Vietnam."

Kissinger is scheduled to join the President in Florida today whether or not there is a fourth meeting with Duc.

The White House and the Pentagon said, meanwhile, there will be no formal announcement in the future of large troop withdrawals from Vietnam, although the Pentagon said small withdrawals would continue.

By ending the formal announcements, the Pentagon said negotiators in Paris would be given additional flexibility in discussing troop levels. A 27,000-troop ceiling set for today has been reached, the White House said.

U.S. officials say Duc has continued to insist in his meetings here on the major remaining demand of the South Vietnamese, which is for a written commitment from the North Vietnamese to withdraw.

Sources said Nixon has probably advised Duc that no such pledge could be obtained, but that enough safeguards were available to protect a ceasefire.

American officials also confirmed that the United States will seek to internationalize reconstruction efforts in Indochina after the war.

Phong dead

SAIGON (AP)—A plane carrying four crewmen and a joint 18-man U.S.-Vietnamese team visiting refugee camps crashed in bad weather on the central coast today, killing seven persons including a Vietnamese general. The 15 others were injured.

Five of the dead were Vietnamese and the two other dead were Americans employed by the U.S. Agency for International Development.

The general was identified as Maj. Gen. Tran Thanh Phong, deputy commander of the 2nd Military Region, which embraces the central highlands and the central coast.

Tightest federal control in history

Mine workers are casting ballots today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 200,000 members of the United Mine Workers Union begin casting ballots for their officers today under the tightest federal control in the history of the American labor movement.

The principal election fight is between Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle, 70, whose last opponent was murdered, and challenger Arnold Miller of Ohley, W. Va.

The election was ordered by a federal judge after finding that Boyle's 1969 re-election over the late Joseph A. Yablonski was marred by widespread violations of labor law.

Yablonski, his wife and daughter were found shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home several weeks after the 1969 election. Several union officials have been indicted in connection with the crime. Boyle has repeatedly denied any knowledge of the slayings.

Miller, a retired coal miner, was nominated by Miners for Democracy, a rebel group formed by supporters of the late Yablonski, including his two lawyer sons, Joseph A. Yablonski and Kenneth Yablonski.

Eligible to vote are some 120,000 working coal miners and approximately 80,000 retired miners in 25 states.

The balloting will take place over the next eight days under the watchful eyes of about 1,000 agents of the U.S. Department of Labor. The government has been observing all aspects of union affairs since the court order handed down by U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant last June.

Government agents have kept possession of the ballots since they were printed and will release them only long enough for the miners to mark them. Then the ballot boxes will be sealed and shipped to the Labor Department here, under constant guard, to be counted.

Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery said the votes are expected to be counted by Dec. 15 and then certified to Bryant.

The cost of the massive government supervision of the union and the election is expected to total $4 million. Usery and labor historians said there has never been anything like it in the annals of government-labor relations in this country.

The campaign has been marked by Miller's charges of extensive mismanagement of union affairs. Boyle has replied with accusations that "outsiders" are trying to interfere with the miners' long history of loyalty to their union officials.

Income tax school set

An Area Refresher Income Tax School will be held in the Conference Room of the Post Office Building on Dec. 7. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Dec. 7.

In making the announcement, Calvin Caldwell, county extension agent, said the tax school was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, with cooperation of the Little Rock District Internal Revenue Service, the Arkansas Income Tax Division and the Social Security Administration. The schools are free; however, a fee of $1.50 will be charged to cover cost of materials and supplies used by those who attend, Mr. Caldwell said.

Internal Revenue Service people again this year will explain the technical rulings and new codes for 1972. Many of the changes in the 1969 Tax Reform Act are now becoming law in 1972. The new forms will be discussed, and all annual changes in the regulations will be discussed by the school staff: Max Murphy and Mrs. Margaret Hooper, Internal Revenue Service; B.M. (Max) Lindsey, State of Arkansas Income Tax Department; and Social Security representatives of the area. Extension personnel participating in the tax schools will be Dr. James B. Ragland, Clay R. Moore, and J.O. Kumpke.

The school is open to anyone interested in learning about income taxes, records, and filing returns. Persons may call 777-3771 to pre-register.

Rogers to stay on job

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon says William P. Rogers will remain as his second-term secretary of state but questions remain about the future plans of the administration's No. 1 glamour diplomat — Henry A. Kissinger.

Until Thursday when Nixon announced that Rogers would remain as a holdover in his second-term Cabinet, there had been muted speculation about the intentions of Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs. Many still wonder what Kissinger, fresh from opening new doors to Peking and Moscow, will do after peace is achieved. Asked about this, Kissinger said only that he plans to go to Mexico for a two-week vacation. A Kissinger associate offered odds recently of 6 to 4 that the Vietnam peace negotiator and former Harvard University professor would exit the government scene after helping to fulfill the President's promise to end America's military involvement in Southeast Asia.

Another Nixon aide, probably closer to the President, made light of any talk about Kissinger departing. Jokingly, he said, "Did you ever try to pry a size 10 foot out of a size 9 shoe?"

However, another White House aide who is a day-to-day associate of Kissinger's remarked: "Henry often has said you come into his job with a certain amount of intellectual capital and draw upon it all the time — with scant chance to replenish it."

Some members of Congress have suggested publicly that Kissinger fulfill the historic role of secretary of state, yet is not called upon to testify before Senate or House committees because he is a member of the President's personal staff.

Prior to Thursday's announcement, rumors had been rife that Rogers was leaving the Cabinet.

Mills says Kennedy is 'top' contender

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Thursday that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., was the leading contender for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

However, the congressman said some young governors, including Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, were moving up fast.

Mills said he did not think the Democratic party was weak despite President Nixon's landslide victory over the Democratic nominee, Sen. George McGovern.

He said he believed Jean Westwood, national party chairman, would gracefully retire from the office, as has been requested by some Democrats, including Bumpers and some other Democratic governors. However, Mills said the actions of Mrs. Westwood do not warrant an ouster proceeding.

In answering questions from students at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, Mills said Kennedy is "seasoning every day, every month, every year." "He's developing more judgment and that's typical of what happens to you as you study and read and get a little older all along," Mills said. "I would say undoubtedly he is the leading contender right now, but he's not the only one."

Mills said there is "a number of very bright, young, progressive Democratic governors throughout the country who, I think, will want to exercise more influence over the posture, policies and positions of the Democratic party in the future than they have in recent years."

"They, to some extent, I guess, resent the fact that they have not been in consideration in these recent years for this top position to the extent that they were back before Harry Truman's day," Mills said of the governors. "You remember that Franklin D. Roosevelt came to the White House from the governor's office. A number of Republicans who became president during this century were governors."

Edwards vows to try to prevent tragedy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards, shivering at the charred window from which five women leaped in a desperate bid for life, vowed he would leave no stone unturned in seeking a way to prevent another such tragedy.

He pulled on some rubber boots and donned a hard hat Thursday before he climbed 15 flights of stairs to examine the scene of Wednesday's fire.

"I am not an expert in this field," Edwards said. "I do not know whether updating or changing the state fire code is required, but I do not want to leave any stone unturned in determining this."

A cold wind whistled through the ruined top floors of the 16-story Rault Center, an office and apartment complex.

The governor shivered as he looked out the charred 15th story window where five women made their despairing leap and landed on the roof of an adjoining building eight stories below.

Three of them were killed. The other two were injured critically.

Edwards ordered State Fire Marshal Raymond Oliver of New Orleans, who was along on the tour, to study possible revisions in fire regulations for tall buildings.

Oliver said he long has advo-

Christmas cookies with character

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Homemade cookies bring a feeling of the old-fashioned holiday spirit into the commercial atmosphere that threatens to overwhelm young and old. Since tradition is important during the holidays, there is a personal reward in knowing that there was no shortcut to the bakery for cookies and cakes.

Whatever their origins, Christmas cookies are here to stay. Children, especially, enjoy character cookies with frosting and sparkles. Animal characters cut from paper plates (Funny Friends) may be used as patterns for shaped molasses cookies, decorated with sparkles and strung on a tree or used as table place settings.

CANDY CANE COOKIES
1 cup vegetable shortening
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon pure vanilla or anise extract
Grated rind of 1 lemon
2 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 egg yolk
1/2 teaspoon water
Red food coloring

Mix shortening, sugar, egg and vanilla. Stir in lemon rind and flour until well blended. Turn out dough on floured surface and knead a few times until a smooth ball. Cut dough into 48 pieces. Roll out each piece with the fingers into a rope 6 inches long. Place ropes on greased cookie sheet and curve one end into shape of cane. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven for 9 to 10 minutes or until firm to the touch, but not brown. Cool on rack. Beat egg yolks and water until smooth. Stir in enough red food coloring to make a bright red. With a new, clean small paint brush paint egg yolk mixture in stripes on canes. Let dry at room temperature. Makes 48 canes.

PICTURE CARD COOKIES

1 cup honey
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
Juice and rind of 1 lemon
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and allspice

1 package (4 ounces) chopped candied lemon peel
3 to 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
Canned vanilla frosting, cut-out pictures from funny friends plates and bowls

Bring honey to boil in large saucepan. Remove from heat; stir in sugar, egg, lemon rind and juice, baking soda, spices, lemon peel and flour. Stir until smooth and well blended. Chill for two hours. Turn out dough on a heavily floured board and roll with a floured rolling pin to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut dough with a sharp knife into 3-inch squares. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake in a 400-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 20 cookies. These cookies are very hard and soften when stored for a few weeks in an air-tight container. When ready to serve, spread cookie with frosting and then press desired animal cut-out into frosting. Wrap each in clear wrap to give as gifts.

ANIMAL COOKIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 to 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda

Mash butter until soft and fluffy. Stir in molasses, sugar, eggs and vanilla. Stir in flour until stiff dough is formed. Stir in salt and baking soda. Chill dough for 2 hours. Turn out dough on heavily floured surface; roll with floured rolling pin into 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out animals from funny friends paper plates. Place animal cut-outs on dough and outline shapes with tip of sharp knife. Using a pancake turner, lift cookies onto greased cookie sheet. With toothpick mark mouths and eyes in animals and mane on lion. Remove paper cutouts. Bake cookies in preheated 400-degree oven for 6 to 8 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on rack and store in air-tight container.

Concert Choir to entertain

The Henderson State College Concert Choir will present a program of Christmas songs and carols on Sunday evening, Dec. 3, at the First United Methodist, at 7:30 p.m. The choir is under the direction of Charles Rye and accompanied by Lynn Bauman, organist of the First United Methodist Church.

In addition to the choir the Madrigals will present their program. They are under the direction of Eugene Kuypers.

Some of the numbers on the program are: "The Holy Infant's Lullaby," "Come Ye to Bethlehem," "The Holly and the Ivy."

Featured on their program is Benjamin Britten's "Rejoice in the Lamb" with soloists Janee Cluck, soprano from Arkadelphia, Susan Schaefer, alto from Stuttgart, Alfred Greas, tenor from Little Rock, and David Mitchell, baritone from Pine Bluff.

Everyone is invited to attend this evening of Christmas music.

Garden Club bridge winners

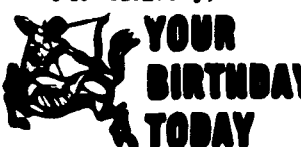

The Hope Council of Garden Clubs had a Dessert-Card Party at the Douglas Building on Wednesday, Nov. 29. Permanent Christmas arrangements were awarded as prizes, and many kinds of good pies were served with coffee to 32 players.

Winners were: Bridge, high, Mrs. Lex Helms, Jr. and consolation, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger; Canasta, high, Mrs. Owen Nix; Pitch, high, Mrs. Otis Taylor.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

DEAR HELEN:

I love my husband madly. He knows I am not the flirting type. He's proud of me. But...

I work in an executive-type job where I am often asked—and expected—to have business lunches with men. They're purely professional.

My husband insists on coming along, whether it's with an 80-year-old garment maker or an apple-cheeked management trainee. This makes us both look ridiculous. Worse yet, the other fellow always pays the check which could be hard to explain on an expense account.

We are in nearby offices and often eat with co-workers in a group. How do I get my husband to stay with the group when I'm invited separately? I don't need a male duenna.—
CAREER WIFE

Maybe your husband is just looking for a free meal?

Or maybe he needs a refresher course in open marriages. If he is proud of his executive-type wife, he surely must understand the obligations that go with her job, and he should realize that a business lunch doesn't require a watchful husband (who never picks up the check).

Why not toss this modern problem out for discussion at one of your group lunches? It probably bothers other career wives and husbands too.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of this newspaper.

Liberty Hill Extension Homemakers meet

The Liberty Hill Extension Homemakers Club met Wednesday, Nov. 29 in the new home of Mrs. Bob Odom with Mrs. Bill Schooley presiding. "Lady Beware" was the helpful program which Mrs. Jon Dewbre presented with the aid of Mrs. Clyde Huckabee, who demonstrated the various methods of self-defense.

The hostess read John 10:7 for the devotion, and Mrs. V.G. McMurtrey read a poem about Christmas. Guests were Mrs. J.D. Neal, Mrs. Steve McCraw, and Kyle Parris, and 3 new members were Mrs. Shirly McCoy, Mrs. Don Odom, and Mrs. Twyla Odom. Refreshments were served to 15.

The next meeting, Dec. 13, will be in the home of Mrs. Clyde Huckabee.

Miss Stephens is shower honoree

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Debbie Stephens, bride-elect of Guy Stanley McKown of Van Buren, was held Nov. 27 at the Bruce Memorial United Methodist Church in Blevins.

Hostesses were Mesdames E.J. Hinton, Clio McCaskill, Mike Stephens, Larry Hicks, James Thurman, Virgil Brown, P.C. Stephens, and Steve Hinton.

Miss Stephens wore a long navy dress and pinned white carnations at her shoulder. Her mother, Mrs. Harold Stephens, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Guy McKown of Van Buren, had yellow carnations and white carnations, respectively.

The lace-covered serving table was centered with an arrangement purple and white chrysanthemums. Punch was served from an antique bowl, and other refreshments were cake squares decorated with a purple flower, nuts and mints.

Miss Loren Stephens, sister of the bride-elect, had charge of the book where 26 guests registered.

How would you play South's six no-trump contract?

If you are an ordinary bridge player you would lead a spade toward dummy at some stage of the proceedings and finesse dummy's jack. The jack would hold and eventually you would make all 13 tricks since the spade breaks 3-3.

What would happen in a match point duplicate game for life masters?

Life master South would toy with the idea of a super safety play in spades to guard against a singleton queen in the East hand. Then he would abandon that play because he would want to give himself the best chance for an overtrick. He would take and win that same spade finesse but he still might only gather in 12 tricks.

How would this happen? He would play dummy's ace of spades after the jack held and West would false-card by dropping the queen.

This is what might be called an automatic play. The queen and 10 are equals since the jack has been played, but there is a great difference.

South knows that West holds the queen. He does not know who holds the 10. South should probably ignore the false card, play his king and drop the 10, but experts are a law unto themselves and South just might finesse his nine-spot and let the 10 make against him.

Steelers in showdown Saturday

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh will crack the Cleveland Browns' six-game victory streak 27-20 in Sunday's showdown, almost assuring the Steelers of a National Football League playoff invitation.

Grimacing from last week's 12-1 prediction record, that's our call on the American Conference Central Division showdown where even the loser has a shot at a post-season berth.

Los Angeles-San Francisco is a Monday night game and, being a Steve Spurrier believer from his 1966 Heisman Trophy year at Florida, I go with the 49ers 27-20.

Here's a game-by-game look with a pumped-up percentage of .737 after missing only the New Orleans upset of the Rams last weekend:

STEELERS 27, BROWNS 20—Pittsburgh hasn't lost at Three Rivers Stadium this year and the combination of Franco Harris' running and a bullish Steeler defense will make me go with them over Cleveland every time.

FORTY-NINERS 27, RAMS 20—The heat won't get to Spurrier and the guy is a born winner. San Francisco will blow it if John Brodie is returned to duty at quarterback.

Oklahoma rivals meet to settle Big 8 title

By RON JENKINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma and Oklahoma State collide in the 67th renewal of the Bedlam Series here Saturday, an always heated football contest that has added significance this year.

For third-ranked Oklahoma, 9-1, and coming off a thrilling 17-14 conquest of Nebraska, the game represents a chance to win the Big Eight title outright for the first time since 1967.

The Sooners also must win to retain any hopes of a shot at the national championship going into their Sugar Bowl clash with Penn State.

For Oklahoma State, 6-4, the contest affords an opportunity for a second-place tie with Oklahoma in the Big Eight, the best OSU finish since 1958, a

Powder Puff football slated for Saturday

After being washed out two weeks ago, the annual Powder Puff football game sponsored by the Hope High School student council will be played Saturday evening at 6:30.

Swapping places with the boys, the junior and senior girls will clash on the gridiron while the boy cheerleaders and majorettes back their favorite team.

Serving as this year's class beauties are Ms Joe Mac Young, senior queen; and Ms Jack Still, junior queen.

Playing under similar conditions to the guys, powder puffers will wear no helmets and will use hip flags instead of the usual tackle football.

Featured on the sidelines will be cheerleaders whose plans for the game are spirited and very unpredictable. Providing the half-time show will be the majorettes who have prepared an unforgettable program for the fans.

Tickets are 75 cents for students and $1 for adults. Funds from this years game will go to Operation Goodwill, a community project aimed at providing many underprivileged persons with a real Christmas.

The public is invited to attend for an evening of fun but are cautioned not to pinch the queens!

other showdown and Green Bay will take it on a Chester Marcol field goal. Now doesn't that sound positive?

FALCONS 27, OILERS 10—Poor Bill Peterson. The likeable former Florida State and Rice coach doesn't deserve to be No. 26 in a 26-team league.

RAIDERS 34, CHARGERS 21—Oakland wraps it up amazingly early in the AFC West.

DOLPHINS 27, PATRIOTS 0—Minutemen are flailed by the 60-minute men as Miami bags its 12th straight en route to a possible 14-0 regular season.

REDSKINS 37, EAGLES 10—No contest as Washington inches nearer NFC East crown and host role for a first-round playoff game Christmas Eve.

VIKINGS 21, BEARS 10—Chicago long ago wasted away and Minnesota still clings to hope for playoffs despite loss to Steelers last week.

COWBOYS 27, CARDS 10—St. Louis is almost to hopeless stage and Dallas can't afford to think about losing before rematch with Redskins, if then.

BENGALS 10, GIANTS 7—New York's playoff hopes perish.

JETS 20, SAINTS 21—But, Jets alive for another week.

CHIEFS 24, BRONCOS 17—Kansas City has to save face now since it'll be watching the playoffs on TV.

COLTS 20, BILLS 14—The Marty Domres Era foiks from Baltimore make it three straight as General Manager Joe Thomas keeps saying, "I knew I was right."

OU ranks first in the conference in rushing yardage with 367.9 per game. OSU is second with 329.1 yards per outing. OU is tops in total offense with 473.6 yards; OSU is fourth with 383.7.

Both teams have strong defenses. OU leads the league in rushing defense and total defense, allowing only 91.8 yards per game and 5.9 points.

The Cowboys are third in the league in rushing defense, allowing 154.7 yards per game and rank fourth in scoring defense, giving up just 16.5 points each time out.

The Sooners attack has Dave Robertson at quarterback, Leon Crosswhite at fullback, All American Greg Pruitt at right half and Joe Wylie at left half, along with freshman sensation Joe Washington. Robertson, Crosswhite, Pruitt and Wylie will be playing their final game in Owen Stadium.

Just the opposite is true for OSU, who's two big offensive guns are junior quarterback Brent Blackman, possibly the nation's best wishbone quarterback, and rampaging George Palmer, only a sophomore.

Hogs open basketball season

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas basketball team opens its seasons Saturday against Rockhurst College at Kansas City, Mo.

The Razorbacks defeated Rockhurst 102-72 last year at Fayetteville in the only other meeting between the two teams.

Arkansas Coach Lanny Van Eman says the Razorbacks were their own worst enemy last year and that a recent intrasquad game "smacked so much of last season and how we played."

"I'm interested in seeing Saturday if we are a better team," Van Eman said.

Unbeaten records to be placed on the line Saturday

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

When unbeaten Southern California plays Notre Dame Saturday it will be the fifth time in nine years one of the two schools has gone into the rivalry with a perfect record.

An unbeaten record and high ranking also will be placed on the line at Birmingham, Ala., where second-ranked Alabama will meet once-beaten and ninth-ranked Auburn, while third-ranked Oklahoma will be rooting for Notre Dame and Auburn and trying to get past rival Oklahoma State.

The national championship or rankings will not be at stake in Philadelphia, but the service academy title will be when Army and Navy meet in one of college football's fiercest and most colorful rivalries.

Louisiana State and Tennessee will be the only other members of The Associated Press Top Twenty playing Saturday, and both will be meeting traditional rivals. No. 12 Tennessee will be at Vanderbilt, while No. 11 LSU will play at Tulane at night.

Notre Dame went into the Southern Cal game with a 9-0 record in 1964. Ara Parseghian's first as Fighting Irish head coach, and was beaten 20-17. In 1970 the Irish again were 9-0, only to have Southern Cal win 38-28.

Southern Cal took a 9-0 mark into the 1968 game and had to settle for a 21-21 tie. The next year the Trojans won all of their games but the fifth one—a 14-14 tie with Notre Dame.

Southern Cal is 10-0 this year and headed for a Rose Bowl game against Ohio State. Notre Dame is 8-1 and head for the Orange Bowl against Nebraska.

Alabama, 10-0, will have to guard against thinking about Southern Cal losing and concentrate on the task at hand against Auburn, a team that has only one loss against nine victories and one that will be out for revenge. The two schools went into last year's game unbeaten and Alabama won 31-7.

Alabama is headed for the Cotton Bowl against Texas while Auburn will meet Colorado in the Gator Bowl.

Oklahoma, 9-1 and set for a Sugar Bowl meeting with Penn State, also will have to be on guard against a visiting Oklahoma State team that is only 6-4 but dangerous. The Cowboys beat Colorado and Missouri last week smashed Liberty Bowl-bound Iowa State 45-14.

Army, 5-4, and Navy, 4-6, each have beaten Air Force and lost to Penn State and Syracuse. Army won last year 24-23 and leads the series with 35 victories. Navy has won 31 and there have been six ties.

Other traditional rivalries to be renewed Saturday include Georgia Tech-Georgia, Holy Cross-Boston College, Rice-Baylor and Southern Methodist-Texas Christian.

Sure, Steve Sweeney can play football; but how does he stand on revolution?

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

BERKELEY, Calif. (NEA)—The All-American honor rolls, those nebulous achievement rewards which mean nothing and yet mean everything, should have him listed.

Wide receiver: Steve Sweeney, University of California.

Yet his name won't be there. You don't make All-American on a team which wins only three games. Even if, like Steve Sweeney, you're the best receiver the University of California has ever had.

So you look back and wonder what it was all about, those three years of varsity football, whether the experience was worth the effort.

Particularly at a melting pot school such as California, where football as a student commitment runs behind anthropology and Peoples' Park parades, sociology and Sproull Plaza noonday raps. California, the one place where a football player is most out of the mainstream.

"California with its ups and downs and athletic probations, its letdowns academically and bureaucratically, is really strenuous on a person's outlook," says Steve reflectively. "It's especially tough for a football player because there isn't an athletic atmosphere."

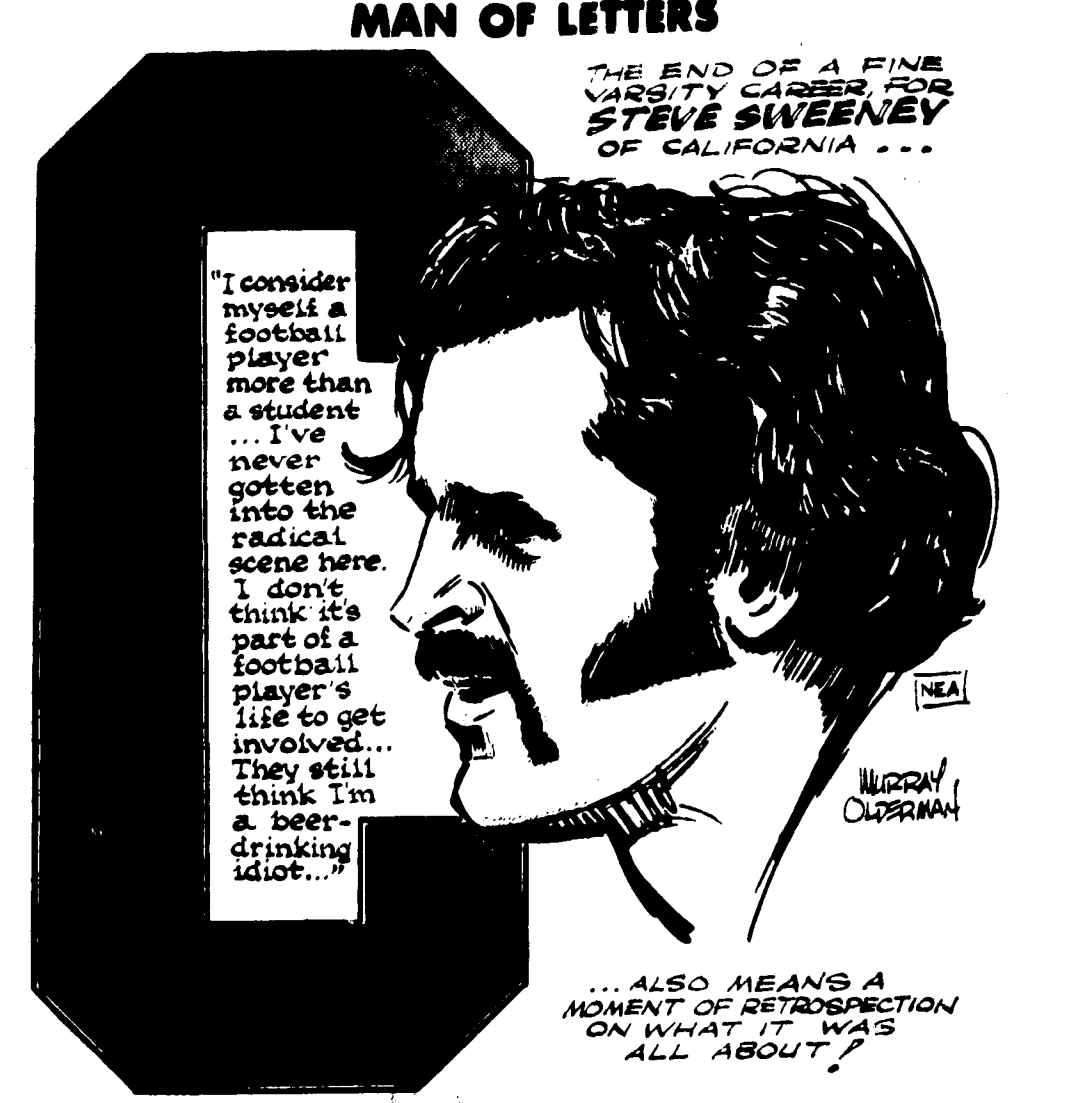

"I consider myself a football player more than a student. But I benefited from school. I'm more understanding towards people. The place I come from is straight. I saw people here with long hair and beards and couldn't believe it."

He came down from Yakima in the apple country of the state of Washington specifically to play football, and he played it well.

In three seasons playing against the best collegiate teams in the country, Steve caught more passes for more yards and more touchdowns than any man who ever wore the blue and gold uniform of California, a school which produced legendary All-American ends Brick Miller and Perry Schwartz. And he caught a game-winning touchdown pass against Stanford in the last play of his college career.

"I went here," he explains, "because I wanted to get out of Washington, get away from home. I was being pressured by the University of Washington alumni and couldn't take it any more."

But why California?

"The Bay area was something magic for me. And I liked the coaches. They did a good job of recruiting. There was no bull. Washington State people spread the word that I got a car, that I had gone to Laney Junior College and gotten phony grades. Nothing to it."

He has a car, but he worked for it in the summers. Financially it has been a squeeze because $138 a month is all he gets to live on, and he can't work to supplement it because he'd forfeit his scholarship.

He looks out at the noon-day cluster of the campus and muses, "They still think I'm a beer-drinking idiot riding through school on football. Kids aren't as radical elsewhere as they are at Berkeley. I've never gotten into the radical scene here. I don't think it's part of a football player's life to get involved radically. First of all, I've never been outspoken."

Still, he identifies with the California scene—in looks, if nothing else. The hair which was once short hangs liberally over his handsome head. The traces of a Fu Manchu mustache curl around his mouth and down to his chin. He shaved it recently because one of his girl friends gave him some heat about it.

He majors in physical education but doesn't consider it a snap. "My courses this semester," he points out, "are really pre-med—anatomy, physiology and motor development of the body, indirectly biochemistry, plus an education course. It's intellectually trying."

He knows bluntly that his future is pro football. He is 6-3 and weighs 210 pounds. The pro scouts doubt his speed because he was timed in 4.8 seconds for 40 yards last spring when he had a bad back. Steve insists he's a legitimate 4.6. Everyone knows he can grab the football and he's competitive.

"For me," says Steve, football is really a mode of expression. I'm quite aggressive and I can get it out by hitting people on the football field."

He doesn't regard himself as a hired mercenary.

"I enjoy sports so much," he says, "I'm lucky to go through school here. The people in the athletic program understand a jock isn't everything around Berkeley. I think kids interested in football should come here because individually they're going to get terrific coaching."

The thought is pertinent because California was recently put on probation by the NCAA for recruiting violations, knocking it out of the Rose Bowl the next few years, seriously damaging the football program. The bright young quarterbacks on campus, freshman Vince Ferragamo and sophomore Steve Bartkowski, have talked to Steve about leaving.

"I think they should stay," he says. "I think they have an obligation to the school. Once you're committed you should stay."

"For me, the California experience has been good. You know what to expect from life."

Big names traded in baseball

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — "Let's make the trade or forget it," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "Let's do something."

The Orioles almost did something with the Atlanta Braves Thursday at the winter baseball meetings, but wound up doing nothing. As a result, Weaver went swimming instead of making a trade.

But the Minnesota Twins, Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs passed up the Pacific to make the only two deals of the day. First, the Twins sent handyman Cesar Tovar to the Phillies for outfielder Joe Lis and pitchers Ken Sanders and Ken Reynolds.

Then Minnesota traded southpaw relief pitcher Dave LaRoche to the Cubs for right-handed pitchers Bill Hands, Joe Decker and Bob Manely.

Atlanta slugger Earl Williams was the man that Weaver coveted. "Get me Williams—and we'll win the pennant," the Baltimore manager had said while lolling on Waikiki Beach. Ironically, the big names were agreed upon by the teams, but a little known player busted the deal.

The Orioles were set to send shortstop Mark Belanger, pitcher

Pat Dobson and Eddie Watt and catcher Johnny Oates to Atlanta for Williams and two others, but the Braves refused to give up Taylor Duncan, a 19-year-old shortstop prospect.

Along with Williams, the Braves offered infielder Marty Perez and Leo Foster, another minor league shortstop.

If the deal is not made by 3 a.m., EST, Saturday, it won't be made at all. That's the deadline for trading between the American and National leagues.

The 32-year-old Tovar was easily the biggest name in Thursday's multiple-player swaps. Tovar hit over .300 in 1970 and 1971 but dropped to .265 last year. Lifetime, he owns a .281 batting average.

Sanders, 31, a right-handed relief pitcher, was with Milwaukee last year, compiling a 2-9 record with 17 saves. He was obtained by the Phillies in a seven-player trade with the Brewers just last October.

Reynolds, 25, had a 2-19 record with the Phillies in 1972 while Lis, 26, had six home runs, 18 RBI and a .343 batting average in 65 games. He hit 26 home runs in half a season in the Pacific Coast League, where he batted .338.

The 24-year-old LaRoche had a 5-7 record for the Twins last season. His earned run average was 2.84 with 10 saves in 62 games, all in relief.

Hands, 32, posted an 11-8 won-lost record for Chicago last year with a 3.00 ERA. He won 20 games in 1969.

The 23-year-old Decker topped the American Association in the earned run listing with a 2.27 mark at Wichita. He had a 12-7 record there.

Manely, 21, divided the 1972 season in the Class A Midwest League and the Class AA Texas League with a combined 11-8 record.

Gluten-free diet answer to problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My wife has a serious medical problem and the medical bill has already reached $15,000. She developed diarrhea which the doctors thought was bacterial colitis. She was having bowel movements 10 to 15 times a day. She was admitted to the hospital ICU with diarrhea and pneumonia. Finally, they said she should be on a strict gluten-free diet and the only medicine she would need would be prednisone. I took her home and then one morning she went to the toilet and dropped to the floor with a stroke. The doctors claimed she also had a small bleeding around the brain. They released her with the same instructions. Her weight dropped from 180 to 118 pounds. I have to help her in and out of bed and on and off the toilet. We have a serious problem which I wish someone could possibly solve. Can you help in any way?

Dear Reader—The problem is Celiac disease, caused by a defect from birth preventing absorption of gluten, a product found in all cereals except corn and rice. It is present in wheat, rye, oats, and barley. It is a difficult problem to diagnose and treat.

Individuals with this problem must eliminate all foods that contain gluten. They cannot eat any cereals except corn and rice or use any foods that have used any other cereals. This eliminates foods made with wheat flour such as gravy, breads, cakes, or any pastries that use flour for thickening. Soy flour and rice flour can be used as substitutes.

At first, most of these individuals should not use milk or any items made with any milk products. The damaged small bowel usually does not have the enzymes necessary to digest the milk sugar, lactose, and it too aggravates the problem.

Sometimes all sugar and foods with sugar, which include fruits, and ordinary table sugar must be eliminated. Ordinary sugar is a double sugar and the severely damaged digestive tract may not be able to absorb it either. As a precaution, honey should be the main source of sweetening. As you can see from this, the diet has to be based mostly on vegetables, meat, fish and fowl, being careful to eliminate any flour products in their preparation.

All forms of coffee, including those that are caffeine free, colas and cocoa should be eliminated.

Bleeding tendencies are common to people who have a severe problem such as you describe, because the diarrhea prevents the normal absorption of vitamin K, the blood clotting vitamin. The diarrhea and poor absorption leads to multiple vitamin and mineral deficiencies, and for this reason, patients with this problem need replacements of all of their vitamins, including folic acid (five to 10 milligrams a day), iron, calcium, and B vitamins, and large doses of vitamin A (which they can utilize without developing toxicity because of the absorption problem).

By following this strict program, many individuals can be significantly benefited. Some also require cortisone (prednisone) or related medication. I hope things do improve in your difficult problem.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Nobel Peace Prize recipient Dr. Albert Schweitzer first expressed his belief in "reverence for life" in a sermon given on Feb. 18, 1919. Schweitzer professed that mankind must learn to become reverent toward life in all its living forms and concluded that "reverence for life comprises the whole ethic of love in its deepest and highest sense." The World Almanac notes. Copyright © 1972 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NOTORIETY via the Clifford Irving-Howard Hughes book hoax put Nina Van Pallandt in the spotlight. Her first movie will be "The Long Goodbye" but she says singing not acting is really her forte.

People in the News

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn, saying he doesn't like to "sit back and just let things go," says he will run again for the U.S. Senate from Ohio in 1974.

Glenn, who described himself as a "liberal Democrat," said he will try to unseat Republican Sen. William Saxbe.

The 50-year-old Columbus, Ohio, business executive was defeated in the 1970 Senate primary by Cleveland millionaire Howard Metzenbaum. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. beat Metzenbaum in the general election.

Glenn disclosed his political plans at a news conference Thursday during a stop here to visit manufacturing plants owned by the Quaker Corp., of which he is a board member.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Sen. Robert Dole says he plans to step down as chairman of the Republican National Committee on a future date still to be decided, but he says he has no interest in a possible Cabinet post.

In a telephone interview after meeting with President Nixon at Camp David, Md., Thursday, the Kansas said his interest is re-election in 1974 and Nixon "wants me to win."

"I didn't intend to continue with the chairmanship if it interfered with my Senate duties," Dole said. "This is especially true in the next two years with the extra effort I will have to make for re-election. So I guess the only question is when do I believe I should leave the chairmanship."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A 100th birthday celebration is planned in honor of movie pioneer Adolph Zukor, founder of Paramount Pictures.

Frank Yablans, president of Paramount, said Thursday the celebration will be held Jan. 7.

The industry-wide event is expected to include entertainment from personalities who have worked for Zukor, including Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, Marlene Dietrich, Cary Grant and Gloria Swanson.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath found out what most Londoners have long known about traffic in the British capital — it's a horrible mess in the early evening — and he blew his top.

It happened Wednesday night when Heath's car got caught in a giant traffic jam in Parliament Square as he was returning to his headquarters at No. 10 Downing St. from the House of Commons.

Fuming, Heath gave up and walked the remaining 400 yards to arrive late at a reception he was hosting for London civic leaders.

Heath demanded an explanation of the traffic situation from Scotland Yard — it was the city's problem, he was told — then had an aide call Sir Desmond Plummer, head of the Greater London Council.

As a measure of Heath's annoyance, it was near midnight and Plummer was in Tokyo, attending a conference dealing in part with the traffic problems of big cities.
